AUBER

Association for University Business and Economic Research

(The professional association of business and economic research organizations in American public and private universities.)

HISTORY

Organizational steps toward the establishment of the Association were taken at the January 1947 meeting of the American Statistical Association, American Economic Association, and related associations held in Atlantic City, New Jersey. The first annual meeting was in October 1947, at the Willard Hotel, Washington, D.C.

Since its organization in 1947, AUBER has expanded to include 152 full and associate members representing colleges and universities in nearly every state of the nation, as well as in several other countries.

OBJECTIVES

To further basic and applied research in business and economics.

To provide a means by which problems common to business and economic research in American universities and other member organizations can be discussed and clarified.

To provide a mechanism for the joint consideration of problems of research methodology and the availability of information.

To provide a medium through which information and opinions on problems emerging in business and economic research can be expeditiously exchanged.

To provide for annual meetings of the Association for the discussion of all those problems typically faced by the membership, both with respect to the subject matter and with respect to their problems of internal operation.

MEMBERSHIP

AUBER welcomes applications for membership from any organized bureau, institute, division, or center devoted to economic and/or business research, which is an integral part of a university or college. Institutional memberships are also available for other organizations which meet the appropriate criteria.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

As always, many individuals have contributed to the production of University Research in Business and Economics. Barbara Hays keyed in the data, corrected subsequent printouts, and prepared camera-ready copy. Curt Taylor wrote and implemented an R-Base[®] program and provided computer support at all stages of the operation. Ann Grossman proofed later printouts and supervised preparation of camera-ready copy. Linda Moore coordinated the direct mail promotion and handled subscription orders. Patricia A. Gurtis expedited financial and administrative matters.

Mary Lenihan of the University of Montana designed the cover. Martha Logan of Logan Graphics designed the AUBER logos.

Finally, thanks are due to the American Economic Association, which has allowed us to use a modified version of their Classification System.

INTRODUCTION

University Research in Business and Economics (also known as the AUBER Bibliography) is an annual compilation of university-sponsored research published by the Association for University Business and Economic Research (AUBER) and the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB). Most of these publications are not indexed elsewhere; hence, the Bibliography is an indispensable tool for anyone--scholar, government official, or corporate manager--wishing to gain acquaintance with the university-sponsored fugitive literature in the business disciplines and economics.

In cases where titles are cryptic or uninformative, brief annotation has been added to indicate what the publication is about. Key words have been included when provided by the author and judged necessary for interpretation of the title. Whenever a subcategory in the classification system contains no publications for 1988, it has been omitted from the subject index.

Among the publications indexed here are books, monographs, journals, newsletters, working papers, bulletins, and conference proceedings. All publications that warrant it have been cross-coded in the subject index, thus making retrieval easier. Publications are also indexed by institution (that is, the school and publishing entity that produced them) and author. The numbers appearing after names in the author index are index numbers which refer the reader to the subject index. All entries are organized alphabetically within categories.

Readers unfamiliar with the American Economic Association's Classification System for Publications are cautioned to study the outline on pages ix-xiv carefully before attempting to locate publications in the subject index. Acquaintance with the discipline of economics is assumed. Portions of the classification system which may prove somewhat obscure to noneconomists are 024, Welfare Theory, which is not concerned with welfare in the commonly understood sense of the "welfare state" but with the well-being of all segments of society. A reader looking for publications on welfare, then, would turn to category 911, General Welfare Programs, not Welfare Theory. Category 025, Social Choice and Bureaucratic Performance, concerns voting and political behavior. Category 026, Economics of Uncertainty and Information; Game and Bargaining Theory, encompasses publications on risk and risk avoidance. Publications concerning women are to be found in category 917, Economics of Minorities and Discrimination. Publications relating to travel and tourism can be found in category 635, Services and Related Industries. Personal finance/investment topics are coded 921, Consumer Economics. General public policy topics can be found in category 613, Public Utilities and Government Regulation of Other Industries.

Researchers using the Bibliography for the first time should begin by scanning the Classification System for Publications, then proceed to what seems to be the appropriate area of the subject index. Every effort should be made to search several subject headings as doing so will increase the likelihood of finding relevant publications. Once particular publications of interest have been located, the reader will need to note the schools which published them and then turn to the institutional index for the relevant addresses and telephone numbers. Some of the publications indexed here may be available at university libraries or in Bureaus of Business Research at AUBER schools, but most will need to be ordered directly from the schools that published them.

The subscription prices quoted are for individuals; institutions may be charged at a higher rate.

This volume is confined to 1988 publications, except for those titles appearing late in 1987 which were not included in Volume XXXII.

French and Spanish surnames and titles are unaccented.

Surnames are indexed on the first letter, regardless of whether it is capitalized.

Thus, de la Vina is found under "D."

Requests for publications should be directed to the original publisher, the names and addresses of which appear in the institutional index.

Requests for standing orders and back issues of the Bibliography should be directed to the Bureau of Business Research at West Virginia University. An order form is provided in the back of this issue.

Publications by Institution

The index numbers appearing beneath each publishing entity represent an entry in the subject index. Index numbers appearing immediately after an address refer to standalone publications such as books and monographs. Journal articles' index numbers are grouped separately beneath the journal title.

The list of index numbers associated with each university is not a reliable guide to the number of publications produced by a given institution because many publications are cross-coded and thus assigned two different index numbers.
